Dietz & Company Architects, Inc. Hires Daniel Garte, AIA

Springfield, Mass. – Dan Garte recently joined Dietz & Company Architects as an architect focusing on healthcare, education and historic preservation projects. Dan received a Bachelor of Fine Arts and a Bachelor of Architecture degree from the Rhode Island School of Design.

Prior to joining Dietz & Company Architects, Dan worked at Harriman Architects in Portland, Maine as a senior architect on projects including a major addition to the Maine Medical Center Research Laboratory. Dan's experience in the educational market includes the design of primary, elementary, and high schools. He was a finalist in an international competition held by the University of Maine for a design completed for a museum and center for the study of human rights. Dan received an AIA award from the New Hampshire Chapter of the AIA for the restoration and reconstruction of the Foye Building in Portsmouth, New Hampshire's historic waterfront district.

Dietz & Company Architects, Inc., one of the largest full-service firms in western Massachusetts, is a woman-owned business that opened its doors in 1985. The firm's areas of practice include housing, educational institutions, historic renovations, commercial projects and healthcare facilities.
